

DAM REMOVAL AND TEMPLE STREAM

Public Information Series

This November, Farmington residents will be asked to vote on whether to remove the Walton's Mill Dam on Temple Stream. To further educate the community on various aspects of this issue, the Farmington Conservation Commission will host a series of three information sessions this fall. Each session will have a different theme and will include various experts that will be able to address different issues surrounding the proposed dam removal and its impacts on the environment and the community.

Each session will be moderated and there will be dedicated time for Questions & Answers from the public.
